

OPEN ACCESS POLICY

The Open Access Policy adopted by the scientific journal Analizy i Studia CASP (Analysis and Studies CASP) is based on the conviction that openness is the foundation of the development of science. Hence, its purpose is to enable the authors to increase their citation of academic papers by posting electronic versions of their published articles in reference databases, in scientific repositories as well as on websites. The immediate dissemination of the research findings contributes to the creation of new knowledge and an increased impact of the conducted research on the development of science.

Therefore, the Authors of the articles which are qualified for publication in the scientific journal Analizy i Studia CASP (Analysis and Studies CASP) are obliged to provide the publisher (Centrum Analiz i Studiów Podatkowych, Kolegium Ekonomiczno-Społeczne SGH/ Centre of Analysis and Studies of Taxation, the Collegium of Socio-Economics, Warsaw School of Economics) the right to use the prepared text and publish its electronic version on the website of the journal, in the open digital repository of the Warsaw School of Economics as well as in the reference databases where the scientific journal is indexed. In the case of the articles prepared by several authors, each of the co-authors is obliged to transfer the rights specified above.

Granting the publisher the exclusive right to publish the article in a traditional print version as well as in an electronic form guarantees eliminating any potential delays with regard to the dissemination of the research findings, while the authors become widely recognizable. Electronic versions of the published articles are included in the databases indicated above not later than on the date of their formal publication.
