Programme Chairs: Prof Anna Karmańska & Prof Robert Faff

The 10th International Accounting & Finance Doctoral Symposium, is focused on developing the research strengths and skills of doctoral students. This symposium is hosted by the Warsaw School of Economics, in partnership with the Strathclyde Business School, University of Queensland, Trondheim Business School, SKEMA Business School, Bangor University, University of Bologna, University of Leeds, Tsinghua University and Deakin University.

7th IAFDS, Trondheim, 2014

The symposium builds on the tremendous success of previous meetings, which took place in Glasgow (2016), Ljubljana (2015), Trondheim (2014), Bologna (2013), Glasgow (2012), Salamanca (2011), and Prato (2008-2010). IAFDS 2017 offers an excellent opportunity for students to present their work to an international audience outside their usual University environment. Prominent professors and researchers in the fields of finance, banking and accounting attend the symposium and provide detailed feedback to individual participants on their research.

Each participant will receive a written review of their submitted paper, the opportunity to present their work to leading professors, a detailed one-on-one discussion with an experienced academic about their paper, and an excellent networking experience with other doctoral students from around the globe.

At the end of the symposium certificates will be awarded for the Michael McKenzie Best Paper; the Maria Strydom Best Presenter & the Paper with Most Potential.

SCOPE:

We seek original empirical and theoretical papers in the fields of finance, banking and accounting with an emphasis on findings that contribute to solving the outstanding research problems of significant impact within these disciplines.

“PITCHING RESEARCH” STREAM:

The symposium organisers are pleased to announce, following the success of previous years there will be a stream of "pitch paper" presentations, based on:

Faff, Robert W., Pitching Research (December 11, 2014). Available at SSRN: <http://ssrn.com/abstract=2462059> or <http://dx.doi.org/10.2139/ssrn.2462059>

The University of Queensland also sponsors an award of Euro500 to the best pitch paper presented at the symposium, based on the combined quality of the submitted pitch paper and the pitch presentation.

For further details regarding the pitch papers, please go to the IAFDS website.

PAPER SUBMISSION INFORMATION:

The submission should be either: (a) pitch paper or (b) completed full paper (with analysis/results). Each submission will be reviewed by the Doctoral Symposium programme committee. The main evaluation criteria are:

- Quality and originality of research
- The potential for impact
- Relevance to the accounting, banking and finance disciplines.

Only electronic submissions in PDF or Word format will be considered.

PARTICIPATION FEE:

Accepted students to the programme will be required to pay a fee of £275. This fee covers registration, symposium documents, a welcome pack, lunches, refreshments and the Welcome Reception and Gala dinner.

An information pack including information on hotel accommodation and their costs, symposium venue details, travel information and general information on Warsaw will be provided with the notification of acceptance.

Electronic Submission Deadline for papers: 31st March, 2017
